

NEWS AND NOTES FROM THE WINTER RESORTS

Lent Changes Resort Life; Does Not Affect Popularity

Informal Affairs on Smaller Scale Replace Large Formal Events; Florida Watering Places Are Thronged: Atlantic City Is Crowded

Lent, which began on Wednesday, has changed somewhat the life at Southern and Northern winter resorts, but has had no effect on their popularity. All are at mid-season form, and instead of the large formal affairs of the past two months, the entertaining is on a smaller scale, with card parties, informal dinners, and dances and entertainments for charity being the diversions at night.

Outdoor attractions are greater and golf and tennis tournaments are numerous, and at the Florida resorts these combined with bathing, boating, fishing and yachting, make up delightful days and offer attractions for every one. The days here are as bright and sunny as the sun itself. At Palm Beach, Miami and other places, bathing in some cases until daylight.

Yachting at Miami is more popular than ever and pleasure craft of every description dot the harbor. The yachtsmen all come back with large catches and some of the largest fish added in months have been reported in the last few days. The polo matches at Miami are well contested and attract large crowds.

At Seabreeze, Belleair, Tampa and St. Petersburg, golf and tennis tournaments are on and many good matches are being played. At Seabreeze, the golf course is in excellent condition, and the tennis courts are being put in readiness for the tournaments soon to start.

Lenten visitors fill Atlantic City, and all the hotels are filled and the boardwalk crowded with rolling chairs and pedestrians.

Special Correspondence. PALM BEACH, Fla., March 8.—There is as yet no break in the run of mid-season, and Palm Beach is today a fascinating, three-ring circus in which it is impossible for an observer to gather more than a smattering of what is in progress. It is a remarkable feature of the life here that the excitement is not on earth to do but to have a good time, and scarcely find a spare moment out of the day for leisure. The season is approaching the stage where everything is a special affair, and the excitement is not on earth to do but to have a good time, and scarcely find a spare moment out of the day for leisure. Peace Gaily Starts. A party that carried back to the days when war and peace were not a topic of conversation was given last Sunday night by Russell G. Colt in honor of Mrs. Morgan Belmont. This was a what is sometimes referred to as the "peace party," and it was a very successful one.

Battle Fleet Attracts

Crowd to St. Petersburg;

Gala Events Mark Visit

Special Correspondence. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8.—The last week in St. Petersburg has been not only the banner week of the season, but of any season, the city having opened its gates in welcome to the United States battle fleet of twenty-three vessels under command of Admiral A. A. Anderson, which came from Tampa and were anchored nearby for several days.

The fleet arrived at noon on Sunday and the crowd thronging recreation pier in the afternoon was the largest St. Petersburg has ever known. The apparently endless chain of automobiles, the immense number of pedestrians, with a sprinkling of navy uniforms, the wonderful boats, many lying close to shore one almost felt as if they could be touched, formed a picture not soon to be forgotten.

The city was literally thrown open to the officers and men and, beginning Sunday night with a musical at the Yacht Club for officers and another at the Plaza Theatre for men of the fleet and for all men in army and navy uniforms, festivity held sway continuously.

A feature of the entertainment at the Yacht Club was the eighteen-piece orchestra, from Admiral Anderson's flagship, the Dolphin, which rendered the opening numbers.

On Monday an elaborate dinner was given for the fleet at the Yacht Club by the city officials for Admiral Anderson and his staff. Sir Rowland P. Rolin, of Winnipeg, Canada, was one of the speakers. The dinner was followed by a dance for officers. F. C. Carver, of the fleet, was the master of ceremonies.

One of the pleasantest affairs of the week was a dinner dance at the Florence Hotel, arranged for Miss Grace Stephens, of Westfield, N. Y., by William Winans, of Asbury Park, in honor of her birthday. Covers were laid for twenty-five and baskets of pink and white roses formed the table decorations.

Among the lively dinner parties during the week was one given by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Conway, of New York, to sixteen friends.

Says Opera Should Be Sung in English. André Messager, the distinguished French composer and conductor of the Paris Conservatoire Orchestra, who recently returned to France, stated that he regarded as a matter of great importance the movement in America for the development of American music, and the use of opera.

"Ancient the latter," he says, "in 'Musical America.' 'Such efforts'... must help your art, your composers and your singers. You should go on fighting. Of course English is singular."

Golf Is Popular Sport At Ormond; Links Well Filled With Devotees

Special Correspondence. ORMOND, Fla., March 8.—With every available room taken and dozens of telegraphic inquiries for reservations from all parts of the country awaiting favorable reply, the Hotel Ormond, Ormond Beach, is experiencing capacity business, which will continue until late in March.

Of the sports, golf easily holds first choice, and on the links more players from the beach hotels and from adjacent towns have been seen than for several years. A four-day invitation tournament for women began on Monday.

Bathing, with the water at 63 degrees, is claiming many new devotees, and the various-hued costumes on the beach during the morning bathing hour add a pleasing touch of color to the gay scene.

The weekly hops in the ballroom at the Hotel Ormond, the delightful dinner dances in the Poinsettia Room and the evening bridge parties in the lobby of the hotel have all contributed to make a season of unusual social gaiety at the Ormond.

New York City arrivals at the Ormond in the past week were Mr. and Mrs. S. Bigelow, with William Payne, 3d, and C. S. Bayne; Mrs. Dickson B. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Lanais Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Bedford, and Mrs. J. R. Woodhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Newington and John C. Newington.

At the Breton Inn are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Longenecker.

Women's Golf Tourney Attracts Large Crowd To Links at Belleair.

Special Correspondence. BELLEAIR, Fla., March 1.—The first week in March found the Belleair crowded as usual, but with many changes. There were several departures, but their places were filled rapidly, and the next three weeks promise to be as lively as any period of the season here.

The women's championship was played on the links this last week, and attracted more than usual attention, owing to the high class field.

Mrs. Martin J. Plant, Mrs. H. C. Reid and Philip Plant, of New York, went over to Palm Beach to spend a week. They will return to Belleair before going North.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Mills, from Greenview, came over from Mountain Lake to spend a few days at Belleair.

Angier B. Duke and E. Bryan Halsted, of New York, motored over from Tampa the first of the week for a day's golf on the links here.

Martin W. Littleton, Jr., and A. R. Alabash returned from Palm Beach and will remain at Belleair for the rest of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray, of Jersey City, arrived early in the week and are registered at the Belleview for the rest of the season.

Among the lively dinner parties during the week was one given by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Conway, of New York, to sixteen friends.

Lakewood in Midst Of Greatest Realty Boom in Its History

Special Correspondence. LAKEWOOD, March 8.—Every one welcomes the coming of spring days and on every hand preparations for the usual spring sports and entertainments are being made. The links of the Country Club, which have been open for play the entire winter, are undergoing grooming for spring tournaments. Tennis courts have been put in condition; paths about the lakes are being raked; bridge paths are being cleared and the motor roads and drives are being scraped and resurfaced for the enjoyment of sojourners scheduled to arrive the middle and latter part of this month.

With the near advent of spring there is more than usual demand for hotel accommodations and for private residences. Lakewood is in the midst of one of the largest real estate booms in its history. There is not a vacant house of any size in the resort. Property is changing hands rapidly, and as soon as the season is over there will be a great deal of building.

There will be a new hotel, costing $200,000, erected on Seventh Street, near the Gould estate. The Palmer House has been sold to a successful hotelman. Every one is sanguine that there is abundant success in store for the resort, and they are preparing to take advantage of it.

Lent Hits Social Events. With the coming of the Lenten period, social entertainment here has been relegated to the background. In consequence, out of door sports will fill the interval. One of the pleasing functions of the week was an exhibition for the benefit of the wounded soldiers here. It was given by E. C. F. McGirr, better known as "Gene" McGirr, of the Early Riders' Riding Club of New York. During the week a large number of the wounded boys were taken by motor out to Cathedral Drive, where Mr. McGirr proved himself a most notable equestrian, to the delight of the spectators. On Tuesday Mr. McGirr delivered the performance of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The Mardi Gras tea given Tuesday afternoon at the parish house by the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church proved a very popular feature. Visitors at Lakewood.
